

Dale June, B.A., M.A.

Distinguished Former U. S. Secret Service Presidential Protection Agent

Professor Dale L. June is a former U.S. Secret Service Agent assigned to the Presidential Protective Division at the White House with Presidents Nixon, Ford and Carter.

A former U.S. Customs Intelligence Specialist, expert in Organized Crime and Terrorism, Mr. June is also a Private Investigator and Executive Protection Specialist providing security, both domestically and globally, for British and Saudi royalty, VIP's, politicians, and noted celebrities.

Mr. June earned his M.A. Degree in Criminal Justice from George Washington University and his B.A. Degree in Public Administration from California State University, Sacramento. He co-founded Henley-Putnam University and created roughly forty of the university's original course offerings. He's been an adjunct professor teaching Human Behavior, Psychology, Social Science and Terrorism courses for National University in Los Angeles, CA.

Mr. June helped pioneer private "executive protection", founding and managing his own executive protection company in Southern California, providing security for many high-ranking persons and corporations, long before it became a recognized and necessary profession.

Mr. June is a highly-respected subject matter expert and prolific author regarding critical security issues and Executive Protection strategies.

To know Dr. Ella is to love her...

I fell in love with her the first time I met her.

Not the average type of love one thinks of when you hear the word love - but a more spiritual love, a bonding, a feeling of "onesmanship" ; the spiritual feeling one gets when one meets that special someone you have an instantaneous feeling for and come to believe you have known forever.

A friend recently posted the following on Facebook. I think it is very relevant:

In one of the most powerful and poetic chapters of the Bible, 1 Corinthians 13, the apostle Paul describes the sort of love Christians are meant to embody:

"Love suffers long and is kind; love does not envy; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up; does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil; does not rejoice in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth; bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Love never fails."

“Long-suffering heads the list, and I think that’s significant... because to love freely and consistently in the other ways Paul names requires a readiness to go the distance. We can’t reserve our love for certain situations or special people, and we can’t withdraw it when people disappoint or fail. Long-suffering is both a prerequisite and the bottom line.”

When she was a professor at National University, Ella’s students loved her and sought out her classes; other professors held her in very high regard and looked to her for guidance in relating to students and life in general.

My very first impression of Ella, one that has never changed, is that I believe she is one of the most intelligent and smartest people I have ever known.

She sees the Truth, not only the ideal but reality...and she is not afraid to express her thoughts, opinions, and emotions.

By understanding her own emotions, she has a natural empathic kinship with those who have troubling emotions and who have suffered profound emotional trauma.

Putting her life in perspective, after suffering a tragic event no parent should ever experience or wish on anyone else, has been an opening door for her.

With her experience, knowledge, and intellect, Dr. Ella is the rare spiritual guide and emotional healer of the premium variety; she is in high demand for her insightful emotional healing.

Here is what I wrote about her in my book, Through the Barricades : Waiting for God

"Of utmost help, guidance and inspiration I owe a great debt of thanks to Dr. Ella Ivshin, Ph.D., for her generous contribution of time to read and reread the draft of my manuscript and to offer gems of knowledge and suggestions".
